

Remarkable Values Result From This Removal Sale of Furs

Necessity forces us to sacrifice our entire stock of fine Furs while the demand is at its height. We are determined not to carry any of the present stock with us into our new store at 1212 F street.

Decisive reductions now prevail on every piece of fur and every fur garment—an out-and-out sacrifice that means you can buy Furs of the well known Saks standard at a price that represents but a part of the actual value.

Make some loved one happy with a gift of furs, and at the same time enjoy the advantage of the unusual savings offered in this Removal Sale of Furs.

You cannot secure such values later on at double the prices we quote. A golden opportunity for those looking for rich Christmas gifts.

Purchases laid aside until later upon payment of a small deposit.

We have matched up 250 perfect sets, which must be closed out at once, among them the following:

MAKES BOW AT TEA AND DANCE

MISS MARGUERITE CAPERTON.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY
PRESIDENT TAFT WILL BEGIN HIS DINNER GIVING TONIGHT.

Busy Days for the Debutantes.
Weddings—Personal Notes.

The President will give a dinner tonight for the western governors who are here. The President and Mrs. Taft will be given a reception by the Congressional Club Saturday evening, December 16, at 9 o'clock.

The invitations are limited to members of the Senate and the House and their wives.
Mrs. Taft attended the bazaar and tea given at the Nurses' Central Directory yesterday afternoon and bought a doll. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ray, Miss Mabel Boardman, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell, Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, Mrs. W. W. Finley, the Misses Finley, Mrs. W. S. Overton, Miss Jane E. Delano, chairman of the Red Cross committee; Mrs. Frank Carpenter, Mrs. J. B. Kendall, Miss Lovett, Mrs. Mary Foster, Mrs. J. C. Clements and Miss Nannie Randolph. There were a few of the many guests of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Tuckerman gave a dinner last night, to which Miss Helen Taft accompanied the White House guests, Mr. and Mrs. Snowden.

Capt. W. B. Caperton, U. S. N., and Mrs. Caperton will present their daughter, Miss Marguerite Caperton, at a tea this afternoon at 4 o'clock.
Assisting will be Miss Edmondia Adams, Miss Emily Beatty, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Noyes, Miss Elizabeth Munford, Miss Eleanor Keyburn, Miss Mary Howry, Miss Frances Hodges, Miss Mary Webb, Miss Virginia Mullins, Miss Estelle Crane, Miss Celestine Finley, Miss Elizabeth Rogers, Miss Baxter, Miss Doris Hayward, Miss Adelaide Heath, Miss Valerie Padelford and Miss Alice Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Vassiloff and Mrs. Reburn will do the honors of the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harper Walsh will present their second daughter, Miss Louise Walsh, at a tea this afternoon, among the debutantes who will assist will be Miss Letta Montgomery, Miss Dorothy Brooks, Miss Edith Grace and Miss Elizabeth Gresham.

Miss Walsh and Miss Ruth Bliss will also assist, and the hostesses of the dining room will be presided over by Mrs. T. Hollingsworth Andrews and Mrs. Francis L. Patterson, both of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Charles P. Neill.

Mrs. Edward S. Munford and Miss Elizabeth H. Munford gave a beautiful luncheon for twenty-five of the season's debutantes today, friends and many classmates of Miss Munford. A part of this winter. In every detail plaid predominated, with large elaborate bouquets of carnations at each corner and hand-painted place cards were on a single spray of carnations. The souvenir for each guest was an engagement book, bound in white suede, having the monogram of the young hostess and the date in gold, making a most interesting remembrance of the occasion.

The guests were Miss Letta Montgomery, Miss Emily Beatty, Miss Ruth Hitchcock, Miss Dorothy Brooks, Miss Edith Grace and Miss Elizabeth Gresham.

The marriage of Mr. Gabriell Ambrose O'Reilly, who is attached to the staff of Gov. Gen. Forbes of the Philippine Islands, and Miss Carmel Egan, daughter of the American minister to Denmark, was celebrated December 2 at St. Augustin's Church, Copenhagen, Bishop von Buch officiating, assisted by the Rev. Baron Phillippe von Kettnerberg and Father Braun, pastor of St. Augustin's.

The bride wore a gown of ivory colored satin, with a straight skirt, just touching the ground, with a court train. Her veil was of lace, suspended from tiers of orange and myrtle blossoms, among which sparkled a diamond star, the gift of the bridegroom. The bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The two bridesmaids, Miss Signa Hagerup, in pink and white, and Mrs. L. O. Lashmuth, mother of the bride, were in white.
